

SHEEHAN PHINNEY

Matthew J. Fay

Associate | Manchester, NH

Matthew joined the firm in 2022 and is a member of the business litigation group. He joins the firm with a diverse business and legal background. Previously, Matthew assisted expert witnesses in mortgage-backed securities litigation at Analysis Group. He also edited a US Supreme Court amicus brief for the European Union at the capital defense non-profit Reprieve, worked for UNHCR in Damascus, and ran the strategic litigation department at Justice Project Pakistan. During law school, Matthew served as business manager for the Columbia Human Rights Law Review and founded the Columbia chapter of the Iraqi Refugee Assistance Project.

Contact Information

Phone: 603.627.8273

Email: mfay@sheehan.com

Key Cases

- Conducted complex investigations throughout approximately 2 million pages of data using the firm's e-discovery platform to generate trial preparation work product.

Practice Areas

- Business Litigation

Admissions

- State of New Hampshire
- State of New York
- United States District Court for the District of New Hampshire

Education

SHEEHAN PHINNEY

- J.D., Columbia Law School
- B.A., Dartmouth College, cum laude

Publications

- Matthew Fay & Toby Berkman, Where Lawyers are the New Heroes, Los Angeles Times, June 28, 2008, at A25